

UNREST MAY TURN STAND OF BULGARIA

LEADERS OF OPPOSITION PARTIES ARE CONTEMPLATING AN APPEAL FROM GOVERNMENT'S POLICY.

QUIET IN ROUMANIA

Bucharest Report States That King Ferdinand Is Taking Week's Vacation, Exploding Stories of Mobilization.

Paris, Sept. 17.—A dispatch of the Balkan agency from Bucharest says that the leaders of all the opposition parties in Bulgaria have held a meeting at which it was decided to publish an appeal to the country, explaining the international political situation as being that nation. The appeal will be made on the ground that under present circumstances the attitude taken by the government is powerless.

The Bulgarian government's decision to make terms with Turkey has met with considerable opposition. Advice from Bucharest recently reported that a majority of the Bulgarian states are favoring a rapprochement with the quadruple entente, Serbia and Greece.

Germany Makes Promises. Toulon, Sept. 17.—The German diplomatic sources here have learned from diplomatic sources that Germany has made extensive promises to Bulgaria, including that nation's benevolent neutrality.

It states that these promises were made to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria by Grand Duke of Mecklenburg, on the part of Emperor William, and that among them was the stipulation that King Ferdinand should have the crown of Byzantium.

This dispatch lacks authoritative confirmation and would indicate on its face a promise of Bulgaria of a radical extension of its boundaries. The Byzantine empire included all the territory now held by the various Balkan nations and European Turkey.

No Help From Bulgaria. Bucharest, Sept. 16, via Paris and London, Sept. 17.—The allies know that in no case may they count on Bulgaria's help on the Gallipoli peninsula, says the semi-official independent Rumanian press, in dealing with the Turkish-Bulgarian agreement. "They have lost that part of their diplomatic contest in the Balkans," it remarks, "and seen how the other part will come out."

King Ferdinand will leave tomorrow for a week's vacation on the Danube. This completely disposes of reports concerning the activities of Rumanian troops on the frontier, which in reality are nothing more than annual maneuvers.

Serbian Premier on War. Paris, Sept. 17.—Serbia has done nothing to ally itself with Premier Peticich, as quoted by the correspondent at Nish of the Petite Parisien. "She has beaten the Austrians," he writes, "and she has won great victories by her great allies in order to bring Bulgaria into the Balkan entente."

Whether Bulgaria will come into the entente is another question. The Balkan states are deeply concerned over the reported concentration of the army north of Serbia for the purpose of going to the aid of Turkey. The army of the entente, on the other hand, has been reorganized, and is well supplied with munitions. It would render it most difficult for the entente in crossing the Danube into the country. He would require at least 450,000 men to make the attempt. Where would the Germans find them now?

Call Greeks to Colors. Paris, Sept. 17.—A further large number of troops is reported by the Balkan agency to have been called to the Greek colors. The Athens correspondent of this agency says a royal decree has been issued calling on the reservists of the classes of 1886-87-88 on October 1.

Hindenburg Takes Vidy. Berlin, Sept. 17.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's forces which have "bunked Vilna and Dvinsk, cutting the railroad between those cities," have made a further advance through the east. The war office announced today the capture of Vidy, about thirty miles south of Dvinsk.

Russians Falling Back. London, Sept. 17.—Petrograd adds the Russians are falling back in the direction of Pinsk, capture of which was announced yesterday by the Germans. Occupation of Pinsk, it is expected, may be expected to facilitate greatly the progress of Field Marshal Von Mackensen's forces through the Pripet marshes.

Attitude of the military situation is feared, as is indicated by the proclamation of General Razvayev, Russian commander in the north, calling upon workmen not to slacken their efforts to keep the army supplied with munitions.

Although official reports have been received recently from French and British sources, severe fighting seems to be under way again on the Gallipoli front.

The Turks, according to their reports, have made several successful attacks in the region of Anafarta. Athens and Rome continue to report that the defensive power of the Turks is weakening, but no official news has been received in confirmation.

Bulgaria With Teutons. Dispatches from Greece expressing strong belief that Bulgaria and Turkey have definitely reached an agreement, but in the near east it is not believed this will lead to actual participation in the war by Bulgaria. Nor is an immediate offensive by Austro-German forces expected against Serbia.

Although combats continue on the western front, the German reply to the French guns is growing in intensity.

Austria Intends To Recall Dumba For a Consultation

New photograph of Ambassador and Mme. Dumba at their summer home at Lenox, Mass.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The Austrian government intends to recall Ambassador Dumba for consultation, according to intimations given to Ambassador Bernstorff when he delivered the note from the United States asking for the return of the ambassador to Austria.

Dumba In New York. New York, Sept. 17.—Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, expressed surprise when he learned that Dr. Constantine Dumba, Austro-

Hungarian ambassador, whose recall has been asked by President Wilson, was in the city. The ambassador said he did not have an appointment with Dr. Dumba, but did not object to seeing him. Dr. Dumba kept close to his apartments in an uptown hotel during the morning, declining to make any statement. About noon he drove away in an automobile, saying he was going for a pleasure trip. It was understood that Dr. Dumba planned to go to Washington shortly to join Madame Dumba.

MURDERED WHILE ON CANTILLON CALLS WAY TO BE MARRIED

Bride-to-be Waits for Sweetheart at Church Who Never Shows Up. —Officials Seek Assassins.

Mason City, Ia., Sept. 17.—Officials of the border counties on both sides of the Iowa-Minnesota boundary line were searching today for assassins of Cornelia Kluge of Parisburg, Minn., who, while her bride-to-be, Miss Stella Seely, waited at a little church in Austin, Minn., was kidnapped, drugged and left to die in a lonely road between Wabam and Mayville, Minnesota.

Kluge is still unconscious at a hotel in Austin, where he was taken following the attempt on his life Wednesday morning according to the story reaching here today. Four men and an automobile are said to have figured in the kidnapping. Kluge's friends and relatives, arrived at the church at six o'clock Wednesday morning for the ceremony, and after waiting three hours for the bridegroom, decided something was wrong, and began a search. Her father, a prominent business man, led the searching party. When they came upon Kluge, he was bleeding from wounds about the head and was unconscious.

Kluge had arrived in Austin from Fairbault on Tuesday, and after a rehearsal of the wedding ceremony Tuesday night, retired at his hotel. Wednesday morning he arose about four o'clock and told employees of the hotel that he was going to the church for the early morning ceremony. He never reached the church.

PAINTER QUEEN SOLD FOR FIVE THOUSAND

Three Year Old Pacer, Owned by Bleiler of Monroe, Is Purchased at State Fair by Eastern Firm.

Monroe, Wis., Sept. 17.—Painter Queen, three-year-old pacer, with a record of 2:07 1/4, entered in the race for three-year-olds at the state fair today, was sold by George Bleiler of this city to a horse shoe firm in Erie, Pa., for $5,000. Bleiler bought the horse one year ago for $1,000. He has never lost in races this season. She lowered the state record in this city last week during the Green county fair.

MADISON REPORTS RECORD RAINFALL

Madison, Sept. 17.—Another record of rainfall yesterday of 1.78 inches, the greatest on Sept. 16 in the history of the weather bureau, brought the total for the month up to 8.48 inches, which also constitutes a record for the first sixteen days of the month and brings the excess of precipitation since January 1 to 8.55 inches.

This excess precipitation has brought the lakes to abnormal levels, Monona being eighteen inches above normal and still rising. Boat houses along the shore are filled with water, and shore lines in many places are obliterated.

The bursting of the Stoughton dam seems not to have affected the levels at all. At Stoughton there is a complaint of high water in Lake Kegonsa, and efforts to lower the level are being made.

WAR LOAN SESSIONS CLOTHED IN SECRECY

THIRD MEETING HELD BETWEEN ANGLO-FRENCH COMMISSION AND U. S. FINANCIERS.

EXPECT LARGER SUMS

American Bankers Said to Have Proposed to Float Half of Loan—Believes Larger Sum Could Be Secured.

New York, Sept. 17.—Another secret meeting, the third within three days, was held today between members of the Anglo-French financial commission and representatives of big New York, Chicago, Boston and other out-of-town banking houses, who are endeavoring to reach an agreement on the proposed mammoth credit loan to Great Britain and France.

No further word was forthcoming from the commission than its brief statement of last night, saying so much had already been accomplished that it was hoped a definite statement could soon be issued, telling of progress made.

Offer of Half Loan. The proposal, said to have been made by American bankers, that the commission would be given a loan of half the sum originally asked, was widely credited today. The commission, it is known, after its arrival here that it was seeking a billion dollars. Five hundred million, it is said, have been promised.

This proposal has not appeared to be altogether acceptable to the commission, and it is believed the sum will be increased by $100,000,000 or possibly to $750,000,000 before negotiations end. Whatever the loan is, it is generally believed the interest rate will be 5 percent to the investor and about 6 1/2 percent to the underwriters. Whether the loan should be used to pay for shipments of war munitions, as well as wheat, cotton and other commodities, has been the subject of much discussion among the conferees.

Might Get Larger Sum. It is believed a much larger loan could be floated if it were understood the credit would apply to munitions, which would be paid for in some other manner, possibly by gold shipments.

Great Britain and France, it is said, oppose this plan, however, and are insisting on having the big credit cover exports of every form.

Increasing willingness on the part of certain American banks to participate in the loan, was manifest today. These banking houses, it is said, are pro-German only in sympathy and are not in sympathy with the sums to the credit loan, which would operate toward a continuance of the present prosperity and joy by American exporters.

SANTA ANNA ARRIVES SAFETY AT AZORES

The Fabre Line Steamer, Which Was Afire in Mid-Ocean, Transfers 606 Passengers to Island Port.

London, Sept. 17.—The Fabre line steamer, Santa Anna, has arrived at St. Michael's, Azores, according to a dispatch to Lloyds. The fire in No. 2 hold has been extinguished. The Santa Anna transferred 606 passengers to the Italian steamer Ancona, bound for Naples.

A wireless message from the Santa Anna was received at Halifax last Sunday night, saying she was in need of assistance, but later a message announced she was safe and was proceeding to Azores under command of the Ancona of the Italian line. The Santa Anna had on board 2,053 persons, including between 1,600 and 1,700 Italian reservists. She sailed from New York on Sept. 7 for Naples and Marseilles. No explanation has been received as yet to the cause of the fire. Agents of the line asserted she carried no munitions of war.

ON ACTION OF U. S.

German Publication Lauds Willson for Willingness to Confer With Bernstorff on Arabic Sinking.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—Reports received here today from the German government's communication concerning the sinking of the steamship Arabic, but will confer confidentially with the German government on the subject. It is claimed by the German press as a "new indication of the good will of the American government and its intent to come to an understanding with us."

Previous diplomatic interchanges, says the Germania, have been made under disadvantageous conditions because protests to Berlin have been reported in advance in British dispatches.

"We believe friendly mouth to mouth negotiations will serve the purpose desired by both sides, far better than the earlier interchanges," this newspaper adds.

Commenting on the conflicting reports from Washington concerning the Arabic case and its reference to the Hague, the National Zeitung says it understands negotiations are in progress in Washington looking to the removal of all misunderstanding. The newspaper says, "There is no doubt, it says, but there is definite reason for the hope that they will lead to a favorable result."

PRETORIA WILL GO IN DRY DOCK FOR REPAIRS; REACHES PORT TODAY

Montreal, Sept. 17.—The Pretoria of the Allen line, which was in collision with the steamship Kansas below Quebec, on Wednesday, reached port today with her bow plates badly bent. She will go into dry dock for repairs.

MILWAUKEE INSURANCE AGENT DIES AT CHICAGO

American Woman Physician Aids Wounded Russ at Battle Front

American woman physician on horseback at front.

That women should be doctors on the battlefield is something unusual, at that an American woman should volunteer her services to the Russian medical division and actually serve at the front as a medical assistant to a Siberian regiment is something extraordinary. This American woman doctor (name deleted by censor) has been with a Siberian regiment that has battled its way almost to the gates of Cracow, and has accompanied the retreating regiment into the interior of Russia.

EXPLORING PARTY IS SAFE IN NORTH

Message Received From Vilhjalmur Stefansson Expedition After Year and a Half of Silence.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 17.—Announcement was made in government quarters today that the Vilhjalmur-Stefansson expedition, which set out on a journey to the frozen north, had been safely returned. The expedition, which was led by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, had been in the north for a year and a half. The expedition had been in the north for a year and a half. The expedition had been in the north for a year and a half.

The first definite findings that the world has received of the Arctic explorer, were received today by the navy department, which sent him and his companions on their perilous trip to the frozen north. The expedition had been in the north for a year and a half. The expedition had been in the north for a year and a half.

Stefansson's adventures came from Nome, Alaska, in the form of a message signed by himself, and dispatched from the island on August 31. The message follows:

"As unavoidable delays threatened, and the running cost of chartering Polar Bear was high, I purchased her and engaged her on terms similar to Karluk. Engaged Hoff, engineer of schooner Ruby, to take place of Blue of Alaska. Engaged five extra helpers for south party, who have been ample outfit for one year, and Polar Bear for two years. Plan to continue northern explorations to hundred and forty-five west and eighty-two north, if northward course is secured."

Discovers New Land. Nome, Alaska, Sept. 17.—Stefansson succeeded beyond all expectations in his expedition. He discovered new land, and named it St. Patrick's land. He is now on Banks' land outfitting for continuance of explorations to the westward to ascertain the full extent of the new land.

First News in 18 Months. Seattle, Sept. 17.—The receipt last night at Ottawa, Ont., of a message from the Vilhjalmur-Stefansson expedition, which set out on a journey to the frozen north, had been safely returned. The expedition, which was led by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, had been in the north for a year and a half. The expedition had been in the north for a year and a half.

PETITION CONGRESS FOR TRAINING LAWS

Major Scott on Returning to Appleton Shows Need of Compulsory Training in America.

Appleton, Sept. 17.—An effort will be made at the coming session of congress, requiring compulsory military training of a limited scale, copied after the Swiss method, according to Major J. R. Scott, who returned from Washington last night, where he introduced at the convention giving such movement the support of the military surgeons of the country. It was voted the first day, reintroduced the second day, and passed. He said it was the general opinion in Washington that American troops would go into Mexico in three or four months.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—Gottlieb Von Jagow, foreign minister, has been promoted to rank of major in reserve of the third regiment of Hussars. He was lieutenant of Landwehr, retired.

TRAIN WRECK KILLS NINETY AT SALTILLO

MEXICAN CAMP FOLLOWERS ARE GROUND TO PICES SAYS A REPORT FROM LAREDO, TEXAS.

MORE BORDER FIGHTING

Town of San Jose, Inhabited Solely By Mexicans, Sends Call for Aid From United States Troops.

Laredo, Tex., Sept. 17.—The wreck of a Mexican military train, resulting in death of ninety persons, occurred Wednesday afternoon, one mile south of Saltillo, according to advices received here today.

The train was en route from Saltillo to Monterrey with a large number of Carranza troops. Spreading rails caused it to leave the track at a point near a canyon, precipitating two coaches with their occupants to the rocks below.

Soldiers, women, camp followers and children literally were ground to pieces in the debris. Passengers who arrived today and who passed the scene of the wreck noted a huge stack of bodies were visible where they had been piled together preparatory to burial, which may take place in deep trenches. All the dead and injured were Mexicans.

Skirmish on Border. Brownsville, Texas, Sept. 17.—Another fight between United States soldiers and Mexicans was reported today.

Near Sebastian last night four or five men of the 26th Infantry saw an equal number of Mexicans through the open spaces in brush at some distance from the American lines. The Mexicans were advancing on the Mexicans. The Mexicans ran when they saw the soldiers were determined, and escaped in darkness, soon after the first light.

That there were several parties of bandits still attempting to operate in this section, was discovered twice yesterday by men of the 26th Infantry. The men encountered a band of Mexicans near Los Fresnos, in which it is believed at least one of the Mexicans was wounded.

Mexicans Ask Protection. Army patrols today watched even more closely today than they did yesterday. The town of San Jose, twenty miles up Rio Grande from here, a settlement composed exclusively of Mexicans, today appealed for protection of American soldiers. Colonel Bullard, in charge of the 26th Infantry, ordered a guard to "get to San Jose and get there at once." The appeal of the Mexicans for protection is an entirely new development in the war zone.

U. S. Cavalry Fired On. United States cavalry patrol was fired on today near Brownsville city limits. About five hundred shots were fired. The cavalrymen had gone to the river to investigate the shooting of a Mexican's horse on the American side.

Bandits Threaten Americans. El Paso, Tex., Sept. 17.—Bandits operating along the Mexican-Northwestern border today threatened the lives of all foreigners, particularly Americans, according to reports received here today. These advisers state threats were made because members of the Shavez brothers' band were fired upon by Villa soldiers when they went to receive the ransom demanded for Edward Ledwidge, commissary agent for the railroad and other companies of the Pearson interests.

Only half of the ten thousand dollar ransom demanded had been delivered to the bandit when he fled amid the hail of bullets. Ledwidge was fired upon by Mexican guards, but reached the train of rescuers unharmed. As a result of this incident, it is said, a special train is touring the line and employees are being urged to leave the country.

An account of Ledwidge's rescue received here today stated that the train carrying a few Americans with the ransom money was filled with Villa soldiers. A squad of the best marksmen were sent on a detour to a point on the trail on which bandits must come to receive the money. The train then proceeded to the place.

The bandit came with Ledwidge to get the money and was fired upon. He got away, and Ledwidge is O. K.

NEW PASTOR ASSUMES HIS DUTIES SUNDAY

The Rev. F. H. Brigham to Conduct Services at Carroll Methodist Church—Reception Tuesday.

The Rev. F. H. Brigham, successor to the Rev. T. D. Williams, in the pastorate of the Carroll Memorial Methodist Episcopal church of Janesville, will arrive here tomorrow night and the Sunday morning services will open his ecclesiastical duties.

The Rev. Williams, appointed as superintendent of the Appleton district, will assume his new duties by conducting the services and preaching at DePere, according to tentative plans formulated this morning.

On Tuesday evening, at the church parlors, members of the congregation will hold a reception for their appointee, for their leaving pastor, for Perry Millar, superintendent of the Janesville district, and for their wives and families.

Members of the congregation express much satisfaction in the appointment of the Rev. Brigham to their church. On the other hand it is with regret that they lose Rev. Williams. The new pastor is well known throughout the state and highly conversant and well versed in church conditions in Wisconsin. For some time Mr. Williams has been secretary of the Wisconsin Interdenominational Sunday School association, and in this capacity secured a mind broadening acquaintance of religious affairs in the past few years, have served him in good stead. As pastor of the Methodist church at Wausau he established an enviable record some years since. Since then he has been active in the Sunday school field of the state.

MRS. E. J. BALDWIN PASSES AWAY TODAY

Dies at the Home of Her Daughter, Mrs. W. W. Skinner, Early This Morning From Paralysis.

Mrs. Esther Jane Baldwin died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Skinner, in the town of Hampton, at 5:45 o'clock this morning, after a long illness with paralysis. Mrs. Baldwin was born in Watertown, New York, Sept. 10th, in the year 1854, and was married on Sept. 10th, 1880, to Alanson Baldwin of Watertown. It is a peculiar incident that death came just a week after September 10th, dates of her birth and marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin with their two oldest children came to Wisconsin in March, 1888, and settled in Janesville, making this city their permanent home. She had four children, four sons and three daughters, all of whom survive the mother who bore them. They are Willis, Albert, Ralph and J. W. Baldwin.

Mr. Baldwin died on March 12th, 1900. Mrs. Baldwin was a member of the Baptist church and also a member of the Relief Corps and Rebekah Lodge No. 17. She was a woman devoted to her family and during her sickness was given the tenderest care by relatives and friends.

She will be missed in societies in which she was an earnest worker.

The funeral will be held from the home of W. W. Skinner, Sunday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock and from the Baptist church at two-thirty.

WOODS' WILL FILED IN PROBATE COURT; ESTATE TO WIDOW

Last Testament of Janesville Physician Laid on Record in Court.

The will of Dr. Edmund H. Woods, one of the two Americans lost in the sinking of the White Star liner Arctic, by a German submarine, was filed in Judge Fife's probate court on Thursday. Under the terms of the testament, which was drawn on June 23, 1915, just before Dr. Woods left for Europe to enlist in surgical work in war hospitals in France, the entire property is left to the widow, Mrs. Margaret Woods, who is also named executrix.

M. G. Jeffries, of the firm of Jeffries, Mount, Oestreich & Averis, represented Mrs. Woods in the county court. The petition set forth the fact that Dr. Woods met his death in the Atlantic ocean on August 19th.

ESTATES OF FATHER AND SON IN COURT

Administration Has Been Asked for Acil Cutts, Son of R. I. Cutts, Whose Estate Also Is Being Settled.

Within a week after he appeared in Judge Fife's court on business relative to the settlement of the estate of his father, R. I. Cutts, Acil Cutts has passed away and a petition for the administration of his estate has been filed in the same court. Acil Cutts had been in the county court the morning of the day of his death, Sept. 7, on matters relating to his father's estate. The two estates are now listed for the usual probate court procedure.

ORCHESTRA AT HIGH SCHOOL ORGANIZES

George Spohn is Elected President—Twenty Musicians Join Musical Club.

Students possessing musical talent at the high school met together Thursday afternoon at the close of school for the purpose of organizing a school orchestra for the coming year.

The chief order of business was to elect new officers. George Spohn being elected president. Gretchen Frick vice president and Harold Buell secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Werrell of the high school faculty is to act as director in place of Miss Emily Sewell, conductor for the past two years. Rehearsals will be held on Tuesday and Thursday of each week.

There is every indication that the orchestra for the year will be well to the school, a score of musicians already volunteering to join the club.

TESTIMONY IS TAKEN IN STATUTORY CASE TODAY

Two witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Seeman, were examined in the municipal court this morning, when Willis Lloyd Sewell was arraigned on a serious statutory charge made by Mr. Seeman involving his wife. The testimony of both was that no offense had been committed, as was charged by the husband on September 10th, when he demanded the arrest of Lloyd. The court adjourned the case until Sept. 21 to allow the District Attorney to further investigate the case.

Thursday's Market.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Most of Wednesday's gains in hog values were lost yesterday, closing trade being especially weak on light weights.

Armour bought 1,400 "packers" that averaged 260 lbs. at $7.50, and 2,400 "Angus" sort, 190 lbs., at $7.88.

Quality of swine was poorest of the season, with light grassers plentiful. Price range promises to get more contracted.

Yesterday's cattle trade was active at best prices of the week. Sheep showed higher and lambs went lower.

Receipts for today are estimated at 2,500 cattle, 15,000 hogs and 6,000 sheep, against 1,731 cattle, 11,430 hogs and 20,418 sheep corresponding Friday a year ago.

Average price of hogs at Chicago was $7.35, against $7.47 Wednesday, $7.10 a year ago, $7.71 a year ago, $8.10 a year ago and $8.36 three years ago.

Quality of cattle poorer than usual, with only half a dozen good enough to see above $9.00.

Some 1,870 lb. steers reached $9.30, and 1,250 Montana farmers $7.75. Beef steers strong and butcher stock weak, with calves 25c lower. Quotations:

Choice to fancy steers 8.25@10.40

Poor to good steers 6.50@9.15

Yearlings, fair to fancy 7.75@10.25

Fat cows and heifers 6.30@9.00

THREE MAKE ESCAPE FROM JOLIET PRISON

Two of Trio Regarded as Most Dangerous in Illinois Prison.—Walk Out of Stone Quarry.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Three convicts—two of them regarded as among the most desperate in the Joliet penitentiary—walked out of the stone quarry to freedom yesterday afternoon, making eleven escapes from the prison since August 9.

The men are:

Clarence Brown, alias "Ed" Kelly, sentenced from Chicago Sept. 25, 1912, for burglary.

James O'Neil, sentenced from the quarry gang and were seen as late as 4 o'clock by Keeper Charles Kennedy, but at 5 o'clock, when the men were counted before their return to supper, three were missing.

Send Out 43 Guards.

A posse of ninety-three guards were immediately sent out to search the country around the penitentiary, but at a late hour had found no trace of the trio.

Stuttio and O'Neil have been known as "bad men" because of their crimes and prison records. Stuttio led a trio of men who killed Roy West, paymaster of a zinc mine near La Salle and robbed him of $8,000. West's body was thrown into a lonely gulch. Stuttio and O'Neil were sentenced to twenty-five years' imprisonment.

Last June three men were arrested in the vicinity of the prison loaded down with dynamite and guns. They confessed that they had come for the purpose of blowing up the quarry and obtaining freedom for Stuttio.

Flee With "Gentleman Dip."

O'Neil obtained considerable notoriety when he attempted to make his escape in August, 1914. He fled the prison in company with Oscar Von Hagen, known as the "gentleman dip."

Stuttio is a graduate of Heidelberg and was markedly genial in his address. O'Neil and Von Hagen were pursued by guards, one of whom shot and killed Von Hagen. O'Neil was pursued by William Carver, who, armed, followed the convicts to Hunterville and there engaged in a street fight with knives to recapture the convict. He succeeded in bringing him back and a reward Carver was made assistant superintendent of the honor farm.

Warden Michael Zimmer was in Chicago at the time the escape was reported. The prison was in charge of Assistant Deputy Warden Shane.

One of Trio Found.

Clarence Brown, alias Edward Kelly, one of three prisoners reported to have escaped from the penitentiary at Joliet last night, was found hiding in the prison quarry today. He said he did not know where the other two convicts, James O'Neil and J. Stuttio, escaped. Warden Zimmer said he believed that the two were hiding in the stone quarry, which offers many opportunities for concealment.

Delegation Left Today for Chicago to Be Met by Consul.—To Enlist in Actual Service.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Beloit, Sept. 17.—Fifty Italians of this city left here this afternoon for Chicago, bound for Naples, Italy, where they will enlist in military service. This is the second delegation of Beloit Italians to go. There were twenty-five in the first delegation. Four of the fifty that left today were members of the Italian club.

The party will be met in Chicago by an Italian consul and a special train will carry them to New York, from where they will sail on the liner, St. George, for Naples, on next Tuesday.

Saturday afternoon at one-thirty the annual cane rush between all freshmen and sophomores students at Beloit college, will be held on Hancock field. Tonight is peace night, when all classmates take a rest.

100 CANDIDATES FOR HARVARD'S ELEVEN; HAUGHTON MUST MAKE ALMOST NEW TEAM

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 17.—With more than one hundred football candidates on hand, Coach Haughton of Harvard is rushing practice morning and afternoon in preparation for the first game with Colby, which will be played in the stadium here on Sept. 25.

Haughton will have to build an almost new eleven this fall, the great majority of the players on the eleven which beat both Yale and Princeton by large scores last season having been graduated from college.

Captain Ned Mahan is the only remaining member of the veteran backfield, and the old other first-string men on the 1914 team are Parson, left tackle, and Wallace, center, both of whom were new last fall and did not play their places until the very end of the campaign. This means that besides losing the great drop kicker, Pickley, Hardwick, and the three-year All-American guard, Stanley, Harvard also will be without Trumbull, the right tackle, and a long captain in the big game. Lou, the quarter back, Jeff Coolidge, one of the best in years, and Weston, the left guard, and Bradlee, the great defensive back, Francke, the full back, also has gone.

Eight Veterans Left.

Besides the three regulars left over, though, there are eight other players eligible this fall, all of whom played for a time in the Yale game in the New Haven bowl. These are: a fellow, a center, rush, Watson, quarter back, C. Coolidge, Soucy, and Weatherhead, ends: R. Curtis, a tackle, and McKinlock and King in the back field. Watson, Bigelow, Curtis, and Bradlee, in almost every game last fall and will be right up to the running for regular places this year.

A VICTORY TODAY WOULD PUT TIGERS HALF GAME BEHIND

Tigers Claw Way to Victory Over Red Sox at Boston—Phillies Almost Cinch Pennant in National.

Fenway Park, Boston, Sept. 16.—The Boston massacre was re-enacted Thursday afternoon with Hughie Jennings' carnivorous Tigers on the massaging end.

The Bengals clawed and scratched their way to a 6 to 1 victory over the leading Red Sox, and as a result of their victory are one and a fraction game from the American League leadership.

Twenty-two thousand yelling, tooting Bostonians howled their disgust. A small-sized riot was narrowly averted as Cobb caught the last ball. The crowd swarmed out on the field and surrounded Cobb, whose antics during the game had brought forth catcalls and hisses. Three policemen and the Detroit players escorted the Georgian from the field.

The game was bitterly fought and featured by hissing, catcalling and jeering by the opposing fans and players.

George Dauss pitched a great game of ball, allowing but five hits, one of which was on the freak order.

The Tigers got away to a two-run lead off Foster in the first inning on singles by Cobb and Veatch, a sacrifice by Vitt and Bush's walk.

In the fourth inning they scored again after Crawford had got two bases on Hooper's error. Young's single sent Crawford home. Again in the fifth inning they scored twice, driving Foster to the clubhouse in the middle of the inning. Stange singled, Dauss was hit and a sacrifice by Bush put the runners on second and third. Vitt's single sent them across.

Beat Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Sept. 17.—Philadelphia obtained a big lead in the first inning and had no trouble winning the first game of the series from Cincinnati Thursday, 10 to 2.

George, who started for Cincinnati, did not finish the first inning, when he was hit for a single, double and a three-bagger, which, with two bases on balls, gave Philadelphia four runs.

McKenery, who succeeded George, also gave a base on balls and was hit for two singles, which was good for two more runs in this inning.

Ludorus in this inning delivered a three-base hit with three men on bases. The big first baseman of the Phillies made four more hits, two of them two-baggers, which gave him a clean record in the hit column for the day.

Alexander was very steady and kept the hits well scattered.

Vaughn, however, was not so steady.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—"Big Jim" Vaughn pitched the Cubs to a victory over Brooklyn yesterday and as a result the Robins are tied with Boston in second place, five and a half games from the Phillies. Coupled with Ed. Pfeiffer the Cub hurler pitched twelve innings of sensational ball, allowing four hits, no runs and no passes.

Pfeiffer faltered in the twelfth and the Cubs slipped one run across—enough to win that masterpiece pitching battle.

Inning after inning of shut-out ball was pitched by the two hurlers and both teams were great on the defense. The Brooklyn machine managed to keep the home plate clear until the

STAGG PREDICTS A FAST, LIGHT TEAM

Lack of Beef for Maroons Will Handicap Them This Season—Nine Veterans are Back.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Chicago, Sept. 17.—That one of the highest teams in the history of the institution will wear the colors of the University of Chicago was a prediction of Coach Alonzo A. Stagg, after viewing the candidates in the first get together of the season. However, the handicap that is caused by the lack of beef, will be offset by speed, is the hope of the veteran Midway mentor.

With nine veterans of last year's team as a nucleus and with many likely candidates of last season's freshman team to work with, Stagg should be able to build up an aggregation that will be able to cope for the conference championship. Besides Captain Pete Russell, who probably will again perform at quarter-back, among the vets who have returned to school are Sparks and Whiting, ends, Jackson and Saul, tackles, Redmon, center, Flood, fullback, Schafer, halfback and Gordon. The latter who substituted at quarter in a few contests last season probably will be given a chance in the backfield instead of Helme Berger who turned professional during the summer.

Despite the fact that the candidates of last year's freshman team are extremely light, they are a promising and shifty lot. Hans Norgren, brother of the famous Nels Norgren, star of the Maroon team two seasons ago, is a strong bidder for a backfield or end berth. He is smaller than his brother but is just as aggressive and speedy. Bobby Cahn one of the best ends ever turned out by the Chicago high schools probably will fill one of the extremities this year. WILLIAM SETS NEW PACING RECORD

William.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 17.—William, the world's champion 5 years old pacer, created a sensation at the Grand Circuit meeting yesterday afternoon by pacing a mile to wagon in 2:00, breaking the world's record by nearly two seconds. The former record was 2:01 1/2, held by Little Boy.

William was driven by his owner, C. K. Billings of New York City. Track and weather conditions were ideal. Getting away to a splendid start, the big pacer never faltered and finished easily.

The performance of William was the climax of a six race program, during which many surprises were recorded. St. Frisco started the surprises in the Syracuse stake for 2:20 trotters by winning in straight heats over four other starters.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Lydia Lawrence, aged seventy-one years, the mother of Mrs. H. G. Doschad of this city, passed away at Mercy hospital yesterday afternoon following a long illness. Mrs. Lawrence was born at Madrid, New York. The remains were taken this morning to Waterloo, Wis., where burial will be made. Mr. Doschad and family will go from Waterloo to Dubuque, Iowa, where they will make their future home.

Master Philip Somerville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Somerville, entertained two of his little friends at a party this afternoon, on the occasion of his third birthday.

Notice to Rebekah Lodge 171: There will be a special meeting Saturday at 3 p. m. to make arrangements to attend Sister Baldwin's funeral. By order of vice grand, Nellie Slindoe.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Well, You Know Father Went to a Different School.

BY F. LEIDTGER

The Thousandth Woman

By ERNEST W. HORNUNG

Author of "The Amateur Crackman," "Raffles," etc.

Illustrations by O. IRWIN MYERS

Copyright by the Bobbs-Merrill Company. So he really meant what he had said before. The phrase had been no careless misuse of words; but neither, after all, did it necessarily apply to Mr. Toye. That was something. It made it easier for Blanche not to ask questions.

Cazalet had gone out on the balcony; now he called to her; and there was no taxi, but a smart open car, waiting in the road, its brasses blazing in the sun, an immaculate chauffeur at the wheel.

"Whose is that, Sweep?" "Mine, for the week I'm talking about. I mean ours, if you'd only back up and get ready to come out. A week doesn't last forever, you know!"

Blanche ran off to Martha, who fussed and hindered her with the best intentions. It would have been difficult to say which was the more excited of the two. But the old nurse would waste time in perfectly futile reminiscences of the very earliest expeditions in which Mr. Cazalet had led and Blanche had followed, and what a bonny pair they had made even then, etc. Severely snubbed on that subject, she took to peering at her mistress, once her hair, with the eagerness and impatience; for Blanche, on her side, looked as though she had something on her mind, and indeed, had made one or two attempts to get it off. She had to force it even in the end.

"There's just one thing I want to say before I go, Martha. You know when Mr. Toye called yesterday, I was out?"

"Oh, Mr. Toye; yes, I remember, Miss Blanche."

"Well, I don't want you to say that he came in and waited half an hour in vain; in fact, not that he came in at all, or that you're even sure you saw him, unless, of course, you're asked."

"Who should ask me, I wonder?" "Well, I don't know, but there seems to be a little bad blood between Mr. Toye and Mr. Cazalet."

Martha looked for a moment as though she were about to weep, and then for another moment as though she would die of laughing. But a third moment she celebrated by making an utter fool of herself, as she would have been told to her face by anybody but Blanche, whose yellow hair was being disarranged by the very hands that had helped to imprison it under that motor hat and veil.

"Oh, Blanche, is that all you have to tell me?" said Martha.

"And then the week of their lives began. The weather was true to them, and this was a larger matter than it might have been. They were not making love. They were 'not out for that,' as Blanche herself actually told Martha, with annihilating scorn, when the old dear looked both knowing and longing to know at the end of the first day's run. They were out to enjoy themselves, and that seemed shocking to Martha 'unless something was coming of it.' She had just sense enough to keep her conditional clause to herself.

Yet if they were only out to enjoy themselves, in the way Miss Blanche vowed and declared (more shame for her), they certainly had done wonders for a start. Martha could hardly credit all they said they had done, and as an embittered pedestrian there was nothing that she would 'put past' one of those nasty motors. It said very little for Mr. Cazalet, by the way, in Martha's private opinion, that he should take her Miss Blanche out in a car at all; if he had turned out as well as she had hoped, and 'meant anything,' a nice boat on the river would have been better for them both than all that tearing through the air in a cloud of smoky dust; it would also have been much less expensive, and far more 'the thing.'

But, there, to see and hear the child after the first day! She looked so bonny that for a time Martha really believed that Mr. Cazalet had been any that had gone before. It was as though Cazalet neither moved nor breathed, whereas he had been all signs and fidgets just before. His pipe was out already—that was the one merit of bush tobacco, it required constant attention—and he did not look like lighting it again.

Until tonight they had not mentioned Scruton since the motoring began. That had been a tactful rule of the road, of wayside talk and indoor orgy. But Blanche had always assumed that Cazalet had been to see him in the prison; and now he told her that he never had.

"I can't face him," he cried under his breath, "and that's the truth! Let me get him out of this hole, and I'm his man forever; but until I do, while there's a chance of failing, I simply can't face the fellow. It isn't as if he'd asked to see me. Why should I force myself upon him?"

"He hasn't asked to see you because he doesn't know what you're doing for him!" Blanche leaned forward as eagerly as she was speaking, all her repressed feelings coming to their own in her for just a moment. "He doesn't know because I do believe you wouldn't have him told that you'd arrived, lest he should suspect! You are a brick, Sweep, you really are!"

He was too much of one to sit still under the name. He sprang up, beating his hands. "Why shouldn't I be to him—to a poor devil who's been through all he's been through? Ten years! Just think of it; no, it's unthinkable to you or me. And it all started in our office; we were to blame for not keeping our eyes open; things couldn't have come to such a pass if we'd done our part, my poor old father for one—I can't help saying it—and I myself for another. Talk about contributory negligence! We were negligent, as well as blind. We didn't know a villain when we saw one, and we let him make another villain under our noses; and the second one was the only one we could see in his

CHAPTER XI.

The Thousandth Man. It had been new life to them, but now it was all over. It was the last evening of their week, and they were spending it rather silently on Blanche's balcony.

"I make it at least three hundred," said Cazalet, and knocked out a pipe that might have been a gag. "You see, we were very seldom under fifty!" "Speak for yourself, please!" said Blanche, who looked as though she had no business to have her hair up, as she sat in a pale cross-fire between a lamp-post and her lighted room.

Cazalet protested that he had only meant their mileage in the car; he made himself extremely intelligible now, as he often would when she rallied him in a serious voice.

"Well, it's been a heavenly time," she assured him just once more. "And tomorrow it's pretty sure to come all right about Scruton, isn't it?"

"Yes! Tomorrow we shall probably have 'Toye back,' he answered with grim inconsequence.

"What has that to do with it, Walter?" "Oh, nothing, of course."

But still his tone was grim and heavy, with a schoolboy irony that he would not explain but could not keep to himself. So Mr. Toye must be turned out of the conversation, though it was not Blanche who had dragged him in. She wished people would stick to their point.

"There's one thing I've rather wanted to ask you," she began.

"Yes," said Cazalet.

"You said the other day that it would mean worry for you in any case—after tomorrow—whether the charge is dismissed or not?"

His wicker chair creaked under him.

"I don't see why it should," she persisted, "if the case falls through."

"Well, that's where I come in," he had to say.

"Surely you mean just the other way about? If they commit the man for trial, then you do come in, I know. It's like your goodness."

"I wish you wouldn't say that! It hurts me!"

"Then will you explain yourself? It's not fair to tell me so much, and then to leave out just the bit that's making you miserable!"

The trusty, sisterly, sensible voice, half bantering but altogether kind, genuinely interested if the least bit inquisitive, too, would have gone to a harder or more hardened heart than beat on Blanche's balcony that night. Yet as Cazalet lighted his pipe he looked old enough to be her father.

"I'll tell you some time," he puffed. "It's only a case of two heads," said Blanche. "I know you're bothered, and I should like to help, that's all."

"You couldn't."

"How do you know? I believe you're going to devote yourself to this poor man—if you can get him off—I mean, when you do."

"Look Here, Blanche! If You Had a Friend, Wouldn't You Do It?"

true colors, even then. Do you think we owe him nothing now? Don't you think I owe him something, as the only man left to pay?"

But Blanche made no attempt to answer his passionate questions. He had let himself go at last; it relieved her also in a way, for it was the natural man back again on her balcony. But he had set Blanche off thinking on other lines than he intended.

"I'm thinking of what he must have felt he owed Mr. Craven and—Ethel!" she owned.

"I don't bother my head over either of them," returned Cazalet harshly. "He was never a white man in his lifetime, and she was every inch his daughter. Scruton's the one I pity—because I've suffered so much from that man myself."

"But you don't think he did it!" Blanche was sharp enough to interrupt.

"No—no—but if he had!" "You'd still stand by him?"

"I've told you so before. I meant to take him back to Australia with me—I never told you that—but I meant to take him, and not a soul out there to know who he was." He sighed aloud over the tragic stopper on that plan.

"And would you still?" she asked.

"If I could get him off."

"Guilty or not guilty?" "Rather!"

There was neither shame, pose, nor hesitation about that. Blanche went through into the room without a word, but her eyes shone finely in the lamp-light. Then she returned with a book and stood half in the balcony, framed as in a panel, looking for a place.

"You remind me of 'The Thousandth Man,'" she told him as she found it. "Who was he?"

"He's every man who does a thousandth part of what you're doing!"

said Blanche with confidence. And then she read, rather shyly and not too well:

"One man in a thousand," Solomon says, "Will stick more close than a brother. And it's worth while seeking him half your days."

If you find him before the other. Nine hundred and ninety-nine depend on what the world sees in you, But the Thousandth Man will stand your friend.

"With the whole round world agin you."

"I should hope he would," said Cazalet, "if he's a man at all."

"But this is the bit for you," said Blanche:

"His wrong's your wrong, and his right's your right. In season or out of season. Stand up and back it in all men's sight—With that for your only reason! Nine hundred and ninety-nine can't bide the shame or mocking or laughter. But the Thousandth Man will stand by your side To the gallows-foot—and after!"

The last words were italics in Blanche's voice, and it trembled, but so did Cazalet's as he cried out in his formula:

"That's the finest thing I ever heard in all my life! But it's true, and so it should be. I don't take any credit for it."

"Then you're all the more the thousandth man!"

He caught her suddenly by the shoulders. His rough hands trembled; his jaw worked. "Look here, Blanche! If you had a friend, wouldn't you do the same?"

"Yes, if I'd such a friend as all that," she faltered.

"You'd stand by his side to the gallows-foot—if he was swine enough to let you?"

"I dare say I might."

"However bad a thing it was—murder, if you like—and however much he was mixed up in it—not like poor Scruton!"

"I'd try to stick to him," she said simply.

"Then you're the thousandth woman," said Cazalet. "God bless you, Blanche!"

He turned on his heel in the balcony, and a minute later found the room behind him empty. He entered, stood thinking, and suddenly began looking all over for the photograph of himself, with a beard, which he had seen there a week before.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES ALL HER LIFE

But Miss Ayres Got a 'Beautiful Complexion' at a Cost of Only $2.00

Nov. 23, 1914—"All my life my face was covered completely with a mass of pimples, blackheads and blotches. I spent a lot of money on numerous remedies and treatments without success and no relief at all. I tried so many things that I was afraid my case could not be cured. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap seemed to do me good right from the first. I used two jars of Resinol Ointment and some Resinol Soap, the total cost being only $2.00, and this completely cured my case. My skin is without a blemish and I am the possessor of a beautiful complexion." (Signed) Mabel Ayres, Stone Mountain, Va.

Every druggist sells Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and physicians have prescribed them for twenty years in the treatment of eczema and other tormenting skin troubles.

Dinner Stories

The inspector was examining a Cleveland school and all the class had been specially told beforehand by its teacher, "Don't answer unless you are almost certain your answer is correct."

The subject was history. "Who," asked the inspector, "was the mother of the great Scottish hero and King Robert Bruce?"

He pointed to the boy in front of him, the round of the class. There was no answer. Then at last the heart of the teacher leaped with joy. The boy who was standing at the very foot indicated that he knew.

"Well, my boy," continued the inspector, "who was she?"

"Mrs. Bruce," said the lad.

A party of New Yorkers recently came back from a fishing trip in the Province of Quebec, where they had a French-Canadian guide.

"On the first night out," said one of the party, "our guide said to us: 'You come from New York, hey?'"

"Yes," "You know Adolphe Desjardins?"

"No," "You not know Adolphe Desjardins?"

"The guide seemed mystified, but questioned no further. It should be remembered that in French-Canadian villages there is one hotel, and that it is the headquarters of the community life. On the last night of the trip the guide came to us after supper.

"You come from New York," "Yes," "You not know Adolphe Desjardins?"

"No," "Mon Dieu, you must know him! He is the cook in the hotel."

"I dare say I might."

Another Message To the Business Men of Janesville

Business fights shy of dead towns. A sure sign of a dead one is the lack of local pride. People who live in a live, prosperous town show it. Their stores are attractive, their streets clean, their homes are well painted.

Nothing shows a lack of pride, a lack of prosperity, like paint-hungry buildings. Let's paint up. As the most durable and economical paint, we recommend and Dutch Boy linseed oil, mixed right on the job, to suit the job. Have your painter tint it any color you wish. Consult your paint dealer on that job of painting you have in mind. Today's the day.

Shipman White Lead

(Dutch Boy Painter Trade Mark)

Bread and Wine From Paraisips. Both bread and wine have been made from paraisips.

Region of High Winds. Probably nowhere else does the wind blow so hard and steadily as in the Falkland Islands. Tree growth is practically impossible owing to this peculiarity, and with such force does the wind sweep that region at times that potatoes and turnips have been known to be blown out of the ground. Grass, however, grows luxuriantly.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can probably best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a careful combination of six splendid assimilative agents. Taken with meals they mix with the food to turn the sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect has been in many cases reported remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by all druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

NOTE—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

Well known Georgia store keeper has mastered croup and colds for his family of ten with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound.

The minute that hoarse terrifying croupy cough is heard in the home of T. J. Barber, of Jefferson, Ga., out comes Foley's Honey and Tar Compound—there's always a bottle ready.

Here's what he says: "Two of my children, one boy and a girl, aged eight and six years respectively, had terrible attacks of croup last winter. I completely cured them with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I have ten in family and for years I've used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it never fails."

Banish worry and save doctor bills. Keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound always on hand, in your home. One bottle lasts a long time—it's reliable and safe—and the last dose is as good as the first. Get the genuine.

Mending China. Put the pieces together carefully tie firmly and boil in sweet milk for half an hour. China so mended will last for years.

SHAWANO WOMAN VICTIM OF STOMACH

Mrs. Herbert Haire Gains Every Day After Taking Wonderful Remedy.

Mrs. Herbert Haire of Shawano, Wis., was a victim of stomach and digestive ailments. She tried many remedies and sought relief in many ways. At last she decided to try May's Wonderful Remedy. The swift results astonished her. She wrote:

"I am gaining every day since taking your remedy and tonic. Shall continue to take it until I am sure I am in permanent good health. Enclosed find an order for a dozen and a half bottles for my suffering friends, for I know it will cure them."

May's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More.

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to eat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Most thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are, when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, much of the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can probably best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a careful combination of six splendid assimilative agents. Taken with meals they mix with the food to turn the sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect has been in many cases reported remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by all druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

SHORTAGE OF BEER IN MUNICH PROVING A SERIOUS PROBLEM

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Munich, Germany, Sept. 17.—The shortage of beer in Munich, the home of many famous brews of the dark Munchner beer, is now very real. The decreased production has not only caused a jump in prices, but has produced a semi-drought, that apparently has not been felt so keenly in any other part of Germany.

The recent proposal to cope with the problem by closing cafes as early as nine o'clock instead of midnight, has been at once rejected by the Munich's expense, but it was no laughing matter in Munich. Few, if any, of the cafes had sufficient allowances of beer supply to keep things running after nine o'clock.

Karl von Koller, a member of the council of the state ministry of Bavaria, and a life-long Munchener himself, has been talking about the resignation of the people to the restricted beer measure.

"If anybody had the temerity to tell a Munchener one year ago that in August, 1915, he would be restricted in his allowance of beer, that he would have to go home thirsty at nine o'clock, and that the whole city would be enduring a semi-drought, that man would either have been told that he was crazy or the Munchener would have replied that he would never submit to such tampering with one of the necessities of life."

Notwithstanding, the Munchener today wends his way homeward at nine or thereabouts, without a grumble, being glad of his accustomed allowance of beer.

WEALTHY SLAV CITY IN INVADERS' PATH

Kief, One of Most Important Russian Municipalities, May Be Invested by Teutonic Forces.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—Kief is the wealthiest, most important and largest city in the immediate path of the Teutonic invaders, and one of the oldest and most important of Russia's towns. A statement given out by the National Geographic Society today describes this place, the famed "mother of Russian cities," which is now threatened by the southward sweep of the Austro-German armies from Kovel and Lutsk, and the eastward advance of the Austrians in Galicia.

Kief is beautifully situated on the broad Dnieper, among a cluster of golden hills. There are other cities in Russia to dispute its claim of being the cradle of the modern empire, but it is the undisputed cradle of Orthodoxy, the birthplace of Russia's church, and it is still a first religious center. Holy Kief is known as the "Russian Jerusalem." It is a city of many churches, monasteries, sacred relics and of numerous saints. More than a quarter of a million pilgrims have regularly visited the holy city each year during times of peace. As a place of pilgrimage, Russian Kief ranks with Mecca, with Jerusalem and with Rome.

It is a prosperous city, a modern and a progressive one. In its newer parts, the streets are broad and straight, and have been built up with fine homes and public buildings. In the old quarter, there are modern buildings from three to six stories high, which is a rare thing in Russia. The city is a splendid example of the fare, cut upon the most approved of western city plans. However, like Petrograd, the wide, regular streets of the modern metropolis are a heritage from the founders.

"Take away the churches, with their towers, pinnacles and pear-shaped domes, take away the pilgrims and the visiting peasants, and Kief has little that is typically Russian. The growth of its industry and commerce, it has adopted the modern city habit, a habit which is the same the world around."

Despite its obtrusive newness, Kief is an ancient city. Its fortunes have been intimately connected with the fortunes of Russia. It was founded about the beginning of the seventh century, and its early history begins with the arrival of the two Scandinavian knights, Askold and Dyr, who left Novgorod to take possession of the city. Kief early became a stronghold, and the Greek faith was carried to the rest of Russia from here. In the 11th century there are said to have been 400 churches within its walls. The relations between Byzantium and Kief were close, and much of the Greek culture that has mixed itself with Russian life entered the empire by way of this city.

Kief has been badly battered by more than 1,000 years of war and internal disorders, but it has had a saving way of quickly covering up its wounds and beginning afresh with redoubled courage. At one time it was the capital of the Russian state. It was subject for more than two generations to the Mongols, when it fell to the possession of the Lithuanian principality for 200 years. For 50 years it was under the sway of Poland, and was finally reunited to Russia in 1656. It is by far the most important city in the Ukraine.

"The city lies on the right, or west bank of the Dnieper, in the midst of a fruitful region, which, during recent years, has been making rapid progress. It is 928 miles southwest of St. Petersburg by rail, and 406 miles by rail northeast to Odessa. That part of the city built along the riverside is flat, while behind, the streets run up and down the hills, and through picturesque gullies. Kief is rated as one of the most beautiful cities in Russia."

Kief ranks next to Petrograd and Moscow in educational and scientific institutions. Its university is famous and has more than 3,000 students. The city is also the Magdeburg of Russia, the center of the empire's beet sugar industry. This industry has been steadily gaining in importance. In 1910, 19,000,000 tons of beet sugar were produced in the Tsar's realm, while just before the war its production had risen to more than 14,000,000 tons. There are innumerable rich factories in Kief. Further, there is a considerable manufacture of machinery, chemicals, paper and tobacco. The conserved fruits of Kief have a European reputation, and during recent years they have been successfully competing with English "cans."

Kief has a population of nearly 350,000 and has been rapidly adding numbers through the last ten years. The city lies 270 miles from Odessa and the Black sea on a line as the bird flies.

PATENTS TO INVENTORS.

Richard S. C. Caldwell, solicitor of patents, 315 E. Main street, Milwaukee, reports patents issued on September 7, 1915, to Wisconsin inventors as follows:

William A. Besserdich, Clintonville, safety mechanism; George F. Butler, Jacksonport, plow; Benjamin W. Davis, Phillips, pneumatic spring; Clarence H. Frederick, Kenosha, (2) machine for wire strapping; Herbert B. Griffin, Mount Horeb, fire lighter; John J. Leidigh, Milwaukee, validating stamping system; Simon S. Mullen, Beloit, gun shield; Frank G. Wholes, Appleton, cathode ray electrolytic cells; Albert E. White, Eau Claire, saw tooth centering indicator; Robert B. Williamson, Milwaukee, to Odessa. That part of the city built along the riverside is flat, while behind, the streets run up and down the hills, and through picturesque gullies. Kief is rated as one of the most beautiful cities in Russia."

Would Return German Civil Prisoners Held By Russians

Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 17.—The American consulate-general at Moscow, which has, since the beginning of the war, been delegated by the German government, to handle German civil prisoners in Russia, is now making a determined effort to return these prisoners to Germany, so that they may not suffer the hardships of another winter in the interior of Russia. Although these prisoners have not been the victims of actual cruelty on the part of Russian officials, their condition has been indescribably wretched. Hundreds of them have died from cold, starvation and disease.

A recent order issued by Prince L'upoff, the governor of Moscow, stated explicitly that every German or Austrian of non-Slavic origin, regardless of age, state and health, or any mitigating circumstances whatsoever, must leave Moscow before August 14, either for Germany or for one of the interior governments which have been chosen for the internment of civil prisoners and which already harbor over a hundred thousand men, women and children.

This order means certain death for scores of Moscow residents whose physical condition was such that even a short journey under the best conditions would have been dangerous. John Snodgrass, the American consul general, who had made a special study of these cases, appealed to the German government for discrimination in the execution of the order of expulsion, but popular feeling has run so high against the German and Austrian subjects in Russia that it was stated that exceptions could not be made. An American correspondent, sitting in the offices of the consul general, watched the stream of foreign subjects who were suddenly confronted with expulsion from the country which they had learned to consider their own. Most of them, although German or Austrian subjects, had lived so long in Russia that they were thoroughly Russian in their sympathies and some of the women had even been devoting their time in sewing and making clothing for Russian soldiers. For a large percentage of them a return to Germany, where their associations had long been broken, or a seclusion in the interior of Russia, were alternatives offering an equally dismal prospect.

Except in extreme cases, serious illness and infirmity do not interfere with the deporting of the patient. Crowded into trains commonly used for cattle, almost without food, scantily clad and in various conditions of disease and despair, these miserable persons are subjected to a railway journey lasting for days and in a great many cases are forced to march overland for sixty or seventy miles from the railroad station to the camp, where they are to be interned.

The sanitary conditions on these trains are vile and there is every possibility for the spread of the disease. There is no assistance for the sick and there is no protection against infection for those who are well. On the march from the railroad to the camp, large numbers have frozen to death on the way. The lot of these people is one which it would be difficult to exaggerate.

Mr. Snodgrass is at present trying to convince the governors of the various provinces that their cooperation is necessary, unless the condition of German civil prisoners in Russia is to become a national scandal.

CANDIDATES GIVEN FIRST SCRIMMAGE; SQUADS LOOK GOOD

Coach Dutcher Works Players to Limit—Tackling Dummy is Being Used Daily—Slawson at Center.

Twenty-five aspirants for the high school gridiron eleven turned out for the first scrimmage of the season yesterday afternoon at Grant park. The stiffest workout held thus far was given the candidates by Coach Dutcher, in order to harden muscles and to prepare for the stiff schedule that will probably follow.

Coach Dutcher is finding little difficulty in getting his men out in suits, and all are working hard for the eleven positions. It is believed the center position will be taken permanently by "Bob" Slawson, the veteran of last year. Slawson entered the Fond du Lac high school during last winter, where it was believed he would go to college. Students discriminating of find him in the local school again this fall, and are elated that he has qualified and is out for the eleven.

One of the jobs with either or possibly Kenning on the other end. Students believe Kenning will develop into one of the fastest players the school has ever turned out. He has been working at half on the second string team this week. Yesterday he tore through the first team line of defense repeatedly and so far he has proved himself a valuable man.

Richards seems to be the logical candidate for quarterback. He has been worked at this position considerably with Kober piloting the second eleven. Frank Lee will be given a chance at fullback. He is a smashing back with plenty of speed and weight. Cronin will play left half. He was the shining light on the 1914 team and he has his position about clinched. Stanley Ryan, brother to Harry, the former sensational fullback and punter, is slated for a guard position. He is attempting punting and is being the ball for long distances. McCutchen and Taylor are placed at tackles and are doing good work. Marshall has been used at guard, although this position is still open. In fact the line is uncertain excepting one end and the center position.

On the second squad Pond and Kenning are taking care of the halfback line, both showing signs of ability.

Coach Dutcher is confident he can develop a speedy eleven. He has been devoting his time thus far to teaching the candidates the technique and rudiments of the game. The scrimmage yesterday was a success and with a large squad out, there is a good chance of every man being given a fair trial to make the first squad, which will be divided to fifteen or sixteen men in a couple of weeks. Scrimmage was scheduled for this afternoon with many old-grads in suits to give the novices practice.

FLOWERS THROWN AT GROVER ALEXANDER

Grover C. Alexander.

"There never was a pitcher who was a better loser than Alexander," is the bouquet that Pat Moran gave at the pitching star of the Phillies. "Alexander is the most popular man on the team, not merely because he is a great pitcher, but because he is a wonderful character—because he's a man clear through."

JANESVILLE BOWLERS WIN OPENING MATCH

Barely Win First Contest of Year at Miller Alleys by 11 Pins—Dore of Beloit High Team.

In a close bowling match played on Miller's alleys last evening on North Main street, the Janesville bowling quint won the first match of the year from the Beloit five by eleven pins. The first round was a foregone conclusion, and not until the final figures were added, was the winner determined.

The Czar of Russia is said to be sending his army to Moscow to keep him from being sent to the front.

Connie Mack can put it all over the czar as a strategist. Connie sold his masterpieces and conducted an honorable retreat to the bank.

In his short National league career Neff of the Braves has shut out three teams—Pirates, Reds and Dodgers. His pitching ought to be considerable help to Stallions in the rush to overhaul the Phillies.

It is said that the reason the Detroit club canceled the deal for Bobby Jones is that he is a left-handed batter. Hugh Jennings declaring there was no chance on his team for a batter who swings the club.

Francis Quimet, the star young golfer, is a baseball fan through and through, and at times is a baseball player. Quimet is about as proud of his work as a pitcher as he is of his recent feat on the golf links. He recently pitched and won a thirteen-inning game. Quimet lives in Boston and will argue for hours with any chap who hints that both ends of the world series will not be played in that city.

The versatility of Mr. Sister of the Browns sets one to raking memory to find another of that sort. Jimmy Callahan was a fine all-around man. He could pitch in and out field up to the handle could hit and could run like a deer. Then again, his versatility included managing, a point to which Sister has not yet progressed.

From Boston comes reports that hundreds of applications are being received by both the American and the National league clubs for reservations for world series tickets, so confident are Boston fans that the big event is to be staged between the Red Sox and the Braves.

Reasons why the Phillies are in the lead: The pitching string, especially Alex, a strong defensive in Baneroff and Niehoff, the best catcher in the league in Killifer; at home a convenient right field for Cravath and Luderus to poke the ball over.

The newly organized Southwestern Conference of Universities, including the University of Arkansas, University of Texas, University of Oklahoma, University of Louisiana, University of Mississippi, Oklahoma A. and M. and Texas A. and M., has taken a big step towards settling the matter of professional football which for many years has deprived schools and colleges of the entire country of their best athletes who played baseball or other sports for money. The new conference rule provides that no man shall be eligible unless he has played professional baseball in an organization reorganized by the national commission.

"FOUR FEATHERS" SHOW GREAT SCENES

English War Drama Seen in Pictures at Myers Theatre.

Strong acting and splendid scenes distinguished the Metro picture, "Four Feathers," which was shown at Myers Theatre last evening. The picture, which was shown at Myers Theatre last evening, was a characterization of great strength. The winning back of the four white feathers brought him into many perilous places.

Contrary to the expectation of some, the picture did not deal with Indians, but is an English war drama, the story of which hinges on the efforts of a man to regain the respect of his fellow officers who sent him white feathers in token of supposed cowardice. "Four Feathers" will be presented again tonight.

GERMAN BOMBS FOR LONDON'S HEART; NOTED BUILDINGS IN PERIL

Searchlights for Zeppelins on Thames Embankment, near heart of London; Buckingham Palace, center, and houses of parliament.

The heart of London has been quaking with fear since the recent Zeppelin raid, in which bombs were dropped near Trafalgar Square. Searchlights are playing constantly on the skies in order to detect aerial raiders, while anti-aircraft guns are always in readiness. The Germans are believed to have marked for destruction the houses of parliament and Buckingham Palace, one of the residences of King George.

the corn is usually in good condition for seed.

Mr. Moore holds as next in importance in the securing of a satisfactory seed supply its proper storage and he recommends its prompt investment in a good storing room.

Moisture will be the big problem in the selection of seed this year, and hence, it will be absolutely necessary for farmers to dry their corn thoroughly. The ears may be placed in racks on sand corn trees or hung on wires in the drying room. Good ventilation must be provided and a fire started in the room so that the excess moisture may be carried off.

He regards the farmer who has enough fire dried seed left over from last year as especially fortunate, for well matured seed, properly fire dried and stored, holds its vitality for several years.

"To be fit to pick for seed, corn must be glazed and well dried," declares Mr. Moore. "In going through the field in search of mature seed one must look for ears with dried silks and which feel plump and firm. Just because the outer husk of an ear looks green is no sign that the inner husks are the same. But when the inner husks are golden yellow

BELGIAN FINANCIAL ACTIVITY RESUMED

Affairs Which Were at a Standstill a Year Ago Have Been Adjusted Through German Management.

Brussels, Belgium, Sept. 17.—The German administration in Belgium has so far succeeded in reconstructing the financial system of the country that a number of the larger businesses, such as the big factories, coal mines and banks, which practically came to a standstill a year ago, have been able to resume operations.

The withdrawal of the directors of the National Bank in London in August, 1914, who took with them its gold stock and the plates for printing notes, left the country without a solid basis for its currency system. Notes to the present time the moratorium continues in force.

Still another function of the banking department is to prevent the payment of money to citizens of hostile countries, in harmony with a measure decreed by the German government, for Germany in retaliation for similar action already taken by England. The department also superintends receiverships for foreign concerns established in Belgium, especially branches of French banks. For this purpose, it is claimed again, English action has given the precedent. All the branches of German banks at London having been placed, quite early in the war, in charge of government receivers.

JAPAN'S TREATIES TREATED BY PRESS

Japanese Minister at Peking Arranging on China-Japanese Treaties.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Peking, Sept. 17.—Mr. Hiroki, the Japanese minister, is in daily conference with foreign office officials arranging details growing out of the China-Japanese treaties. It was agreed by Japan and China on May 25 that part of the sections of the new treaty relating to South Manchuria were suspended for three months to make necessary preparations for putting them into effect.

The suspended sections are designated as Articles 2, 3, 4 and 5 of Group 2. These sections provide that Japan may lease land in South

COMMENTS ARE MADE ON PROPOSED ALLIANCE OF JAPAN AND RUSSIA.

Peking, Sept. 17.—Commenting upon the remarks which M. Sazonoff, the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs made in the Duma concerning the possibility of a closer alliance between Russia and Japan, The Peking Daily News says it is a "pronouncement fraught with the deepest import for China."

The paper continues: "For some time we have known that conversations were passing between Russia and Japan with a view to an alliance, and we have already pointed out the possible explanation, which is that Japan by her action toward China has brought herself into international disrepute and is consequently anxious to have a friend in Europe, the more so that she has somewhat strained the alliance with Great Britain. But in view of the opinion expressed from London that the conclusion of an alliance between Japan and Russia should be left until after the war, nothing more was to be expected on the subject. The statement now made in the Russian Duma would suggest that the overtures from Japan have been favorably received in Petrograd. Consequently Japan's sense of national importance will be enhanced by the prospect of an advantageous alliance."

"It is perhaps too early to discuss the effects of such an alliance as is foreshadowed in M. Sazonoff's statements, but speculations are likely to be made in China, which must of course be vitally concerned in such an agreement. One immediate result would be the tendency on the part of Japan to greater arrogance, but there is little doubt that the conclusion of the treaty itself would bring about an increased sense of responsibility and an appreciation of its limitations. Possibly such an alliance would decide the fate of Manchuria, for we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that Japan wants territorial rights in addition to political and economic privileges. But if the Japanese influence be increased in the Far East, it may possibly slacken in other parts of our country, because it must be borne in mind that whatever the outcome of the present war the British navy is likely to come out supreme, and that being so it is only to be expected that Great Britain will not rely to the same extent on Japan for preserving the peace of the Far East or for preserving whatever naval balance may then exist."

WOUNDED AVIATORS HAVE CHATEAU HOME PROVIDED BY WOMAN.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Paris, Sept. 17.—Wounded aviators have just been provided with a convalescent home in the pretty chateau du Pied de Per d'Aiguefont at Viry-Châtillon. Mademoiselle Marguerite Vinc, the well-known artist, conceived the idea and was aided in carrying it out by Monsieur Deutsch, president of the Aero Club and the builder of military flying machines. Doctor Mongui, who owns the chateau, is the medical director. Among the aviators recovering there are Captain Olivier and six other pilots and observers, all wearing the military medals and the magnificent gardens of the chateau, laid out after plans by Lenotre, overlook the aerodrome at Juvisy where some of the wounded aviators took their first flight. Forty beds are already installed and forty more are to be added. Georges Carpentier, the boxer-aviator, was recently wounded in a fall in the Vosges, where the fliers often find lightning difficult. He is at the hospital of Bruyere and hopes to return to service without passing through the convalescent home.

DEATH OF ARTIST IS SENT TO FRENCH LINES BY DARING AVIATOR.

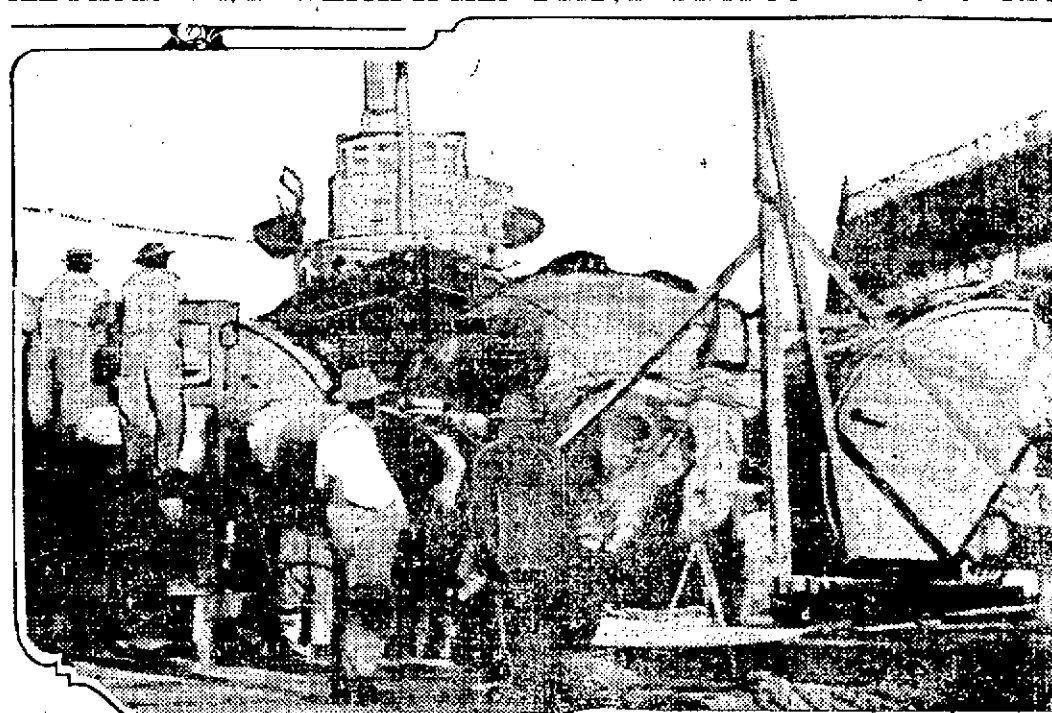

Paris, Sept. 17.—The death in action of Daniel de Losques, an artist whose poster sketches of well-known Frenchmen, published in Figaro, have had a wide popularity during the past few years, was announced today by a member of the French Army Flying Corps. News of his death reached the French lines through a German aviator who dropped a letter pinned to a small flag, saying De Losques had fought bravely.

War's Alarms.
The grand duke paced restlessly up and down the hall of his palace.
"The Germans must not get to Riga!" he cried over and over again.
"The Germans must not get to Riga! They must not. In no circumstances must they. It would be my ruin. I'd never be able to survive it!"
"But why not?" murmured a discreet secretary, seeking to calm the great man's agitation. "Why so? Here we are safe in Petrograd, quite out of range of the biggest German guns."
"Suppose we are," retorted the grand duke peevishly. "Suppose we are. What's the use? Two ancient aunts of mine live in Riga. And if the Germans get Riga, those two old persons will surely come and camp on me here."

Tommie's Idea.
"Among the prizes awarded at Yarmouth elementary school, England," said the mother, "was one for the boy who had the cleanest shoes on hands and the tidest hair during the year."
"Shucks!" exclaimed Tommie. "I wasn't no boy, he was a mollycoddle!"

PRINCE LEOPOLD ENTERING WARSAW AT HEAD OF HIS STAFF

were in circulation, but there was no gold with which to redeem them; and there was danger that the circulation might be further expanded through the issues of the Belgian government in London, which could easily be smuggled into the country. Soon after the occupation of Belgium territory the German government deported Dr. von Linn, one of the most efficient directors of the Reichbank, to proceed to Belgium and take in charge the rehabilitation of the currency system. As the officials of the National Bank had refused to return to Brussels or restore its assets, it became necessary to find a new way of securing the note circulation.

At the same time the German authorities were levying war contributions upon various Belgian cities to raise money for meeting the expenses of governing the occupied territory—contributions which could not easily be raised in the form of cash. The cities were therefore asked to issue their certificates of indebtedness payable at some future time and it was decided to use these as one form of security for new notes, besides bank balances abroad. German gold or other currency. As the National Bank had refused to continue the further discharge of its functions, the note-issuing power was conferred upon the Societe Generale de Belgique, the oldest and largest banking company in the country.

This concern has now been serving for some months as bank of issue, and its notes have come into general circulation. Especially its smaller notes are in great demand, the silver currency having long ago disappeared by reason of hoarding.

Two other important financial tasks had to be taken in hand. One was the fixing of indemnities to be paid for supplies of staple goods—like coal and other raw materials—which had been taken over by the military authorities for the army and the other was the abolition of the moratorium which had been in force since the war began. The settlement of the indemnities was complicated by the fact that the goods in question were in many cases not owned outright, but were still to be paid for by the persons from whom they were seized. The commission having this matter in hand was, however, authorized to pay in advance half of the value of such goods, pending the final adjustment. In order that manufacturing and other business concerns might as soon as possible come into possession of money with which to resume operations.

The moratorium, on the other hand, presented difficulties which have not yet been overcome. After hearing the representations of chambers of commerce, individual manufacturers and other business men, the new banking department attached to the civil government at Brussels saw that hasty action must be avoided; and up-ter for saying in the pulp that it was the duty of British Christians to forgive the Germans, is again in trouble because of his sentiments. This time Dr. Lytton has aroused the British patriots by finding an excuse for the German foreign policy.

"Germany," he said, at a public gathering, "has for the past fifty years been hemmed in and that by methods that be none too creditable to other nations."

He also held Britain's "national covetousness" and "disorder" to be in part responsible for the outbreak of the present conflict.

The Post is among the papers bitterly attacking the head of Eton, in answer to his charges it cites the role taken by Prussia in the partition of Poland, Germany's seizure of Schleswig-Holstein from Denmark and Alsace-Lorraine from France, and on the other hand the cession of Heligoland by England to Germany and the occupation of German Africa by British troops. It also mentions Germany's Pacific Islands, section of China and a preponderant interest in Turkey. Germany's Baltic frontage is said to refute the charge of being hemmed in.

In Dr. Lytton's view we are a nation of Pharisees whose greed brings war about," comments the Post, while we publicly thank God that we are not as these Germans. The Germans are bad, he says, but the English are also bad. Only Dr. Lytton remains pure in a sordid world."

OFFICER CASUALTY LIST IS GIVEN BY BRITISH.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
London, Sept. 17.—Officer casualty lists are again becoming heavy and during the period of July 30 to Aug. 15, the British army lost 207 officers killed, 434 wounded and 41 missing—a total of 682. This brings the aggregate casualties since the beginning of the war to 14,338 of which 4,583 have been killed or died of wounds, 8,739 wounded and 1,216 missing, the proportion of killed to wounded remaining at one to two.

Operations in the mudflats have again been responsible for some heavy losses during the two weeks period. The Yorkshire regiment having lost 15 killed (including their Lieutenant Colonel) and 28 wounded; Australians, 13 killed, 19 wounded; Worcesters, 5 killed, 8 wounded; Lancashire, 7 killed, 27 wounded; Hampshire, 3 killed, 6 wounded, 9 missing; Staffordshire, 4 killed, 12 wounded; English, 9 killed, 11 wounded.

In the western theatre the Kings Royal Rifles lost 18 killed, 23 wounded; Rifle Brigade, 16 killed, 24 wounded; while the Indians had 18 killed, 51 wounded.

MOSLEMS FIGHT FOR CHRISTIANS, BUT KEEP THEIR RELIGION

This picturesque scene was witnessed at the mosque at Woking, near London, when a large number of Mohammedans, principally British Indian troops assembled for prayer. The picture shows the "prostration," each worshipper with his face to the east, the Mohammedan Mecca.

What the Want Ad. Users Say:

A well known farmer near Avalon said the other day, "I have used the Gazette Want Ads for almost every conceivable purpose and have never yet failed to get lots of replies. I have advertised for help, for stock, farm implements for sale and various other things and in a day or so have had plenty of results."

A lady in this city said, "I was worried about what to do with an unused room. I had inquired about among my friends if they knew where I could find a roomer. One of them said to put a want ad in the Gazette. I did and had many responses. It's so easy that I will use them for other things."

A local man lost a watch some time ago. In speaking of it he said, "I had little faith that I would ever see it again but I put lost ad in the Gazette and the second day I had it back. From my own experiences I do not believe there is anything the Gazette Want Ads will not accomplish."

A certain housewife wanted to buy some new furniture that would go better with her new home. She says, "I advertised my old pieces three days in the Gazette and sold every one of them. That money came in very handy in buying the new things."

Messages From the Cross

By REV. GEORGE E. GUILLE
Bible Teacher, Extension Department, Moody
Bible Institute of Chicago

TEXT—And they crucified him. Matt. 27:36.

No one can read this story without being struck by the artless manner in which it is told. The writer, if left to his own wisdom, would have filled page after page, omitting no detail and adding imposing imagery of every kind to heighten the effect. The Spirit of God is the narrator of these events and in telling them he is telling the story which, however slow men may be to hear, he most delights to tell. And thus he has written down, as a part of Holy Scripture, certain things that transcend that, wherever the story of the cross should be told, these things must be told in connection therewith.

Let us look at three of these.

The Place.

First, then, the place of the crucifixion will speak to us. "And when they were come unto a place called Golgotha, that is to say, the place of a skull." There, at the "place of a skull"—the utter wreck of human wisdom, did they put to death the "Wisdom of God." "For of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who has made unto us wisdom from God."

The world boasts of its wisdom today, boasts of the achievements of science and philosophy, but for the most part, these are the wisdom of men, not the wisdom of God. It has found no solution, nor has it taught us anything about God. "The world by wisdom knew not God." "And the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness." Herein is the offense of the cross, that it sets aside all of man's wisdom forever, as well as all his glory. The Greeks were wisdom worshipers, but at Corinth the apostle would know nothing "save Jesus Christ and him crucified," the cross in all its marvelous attractiveness for hearts enlightened from above. In all its intolerable repulsiveness for unregenerate men. Modern rationalism despises the cross, but the humblest believer in it has found it to be what the apostle declares, "The power of God and the wisdom of God."

The Crown of Thorns.

The last king of David's line to be crowned at Jerusalem is crowned with thorns. In derision they crown him, but the Spirit of God writes it down, for that crown symbolizes the curse which he has come to put away. In Genesis 3 we read of the curse pronounced upon creation because of man's sin: "Cursed is the ground for thy sake. . . thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth unto thee." Thorns, then, have become the emblem of the curse of sin, and now we see them on the Savior's brow. "In sorrow," goes on the pronouncement, "shalt thou eat of it," but the One who wears the crown of thorns is the "Man of Sorrows," saying, as he goes to the cross, "Now is my soul exceeding sorrowful, even unto death." "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread" and of him who hangs on the cross it is written, "His sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling from him." So the thorns are telling of what he is made for us: "Christ hath delivered us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us, as it is written, cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree." "Made a curse!" How simple to utter the words; how unutterable the depth of their meaning!

The Supernatural Darkness.

"The darkness sought his woes to hide," is a beautiful hymn which sometimes we sing, but it does not explain that awful darkness. That "darkness over all the land" is witness that God, who is light, has withdrawn his presence from a scene in which he can have no part. And it was a faint outward expression of a deeper darkness that pressed upon the Savior's soul. And thus his own cry interprets it: "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" And there is no answer from God. Where shall we find the answer to that cry of forsaken sorrow? We have but to turn to the Twenty-second Psalm, from which it is quoted, and there we shall find the Holy Sufferer answering his own question. "Thou art holy, oh, thou who inhabitest the praises of Israel." God is holy and he turns away. "Thou art of purer eyes than to behold iniquity and canst not look upon sin." Christ in the darkness, Christ forsaken of God is Christ "made sin." He hath made him to be sin for us. And this was his anguish. To Calvary they take him, as unfit to die within the holy city. "For the bodies of those beasts whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned without the camp. Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate." Christ on Calvary, Christ abandoned, is the true sin offering.

Pleasant Fields of Holy Writ

The International Sunday-School Lesson.

Motto for this week: "In a few chosen sentences we acquire more accurate knowledge of the affairs of Egypt, Tyre, Syria, Assyria, Babylon, and other neighboring nations than had been preserved for us in all the other remains of antiquity up to the recent discoveries in hieroglyphical and cuneiform monuments."—Lord Arthur Hervey.

OBEDIENCE AND KINGSHIP.

David again in his old age a fugitive, and that too from his own son, presents one of the most pathetic incidents of Hebrew history. In the midst of the pains caused by his ungrateful and traitorous offspring, he did not, however, lose either sense or self-possession. His genius for war had a new display as well as his personal courage. His plea for his rebellious son is truly paternal. Nature herself furnished the gibet for Absalom. Instead of imperial pomp and circumstance, which in his inordinate pride he had reared for himself, his son had been thrown into a common ditch. David's grief was a quenchable spirit flamed up even on his deathbed. His characteristic traits appear so potent against the somber face of death. Absalom attempts to force his way to the throne by spectacular parade, royal banquet, kindly salute. David orders a counter demonstration, in which Absalom is disarmed and hauled to the king. Absalom, checked by a band accustomed to royal moves, has nothing left for it but homage or last flight. . . . Solomon's first act upon his accession was to make a pilgrimage up the steep, rocky mountain to a convocation of the nation with sacrifice and prayer. That night the young king sleeps in the curtained precincts of the tabernacle, and like the boy prophet he hears the voice of God. To the divine question, an ideal answer is made, "Wisdom to govern" is granted, and life, length the palace of God was finished. . . . At least the palace of God was finished. . . . The dedication which followed the last touch of the mechanic, was in every respect worthy and appropriate. The royal bodyguard in the van, each giant warrior carrying his shield of beaten gold, the white-robed choristers sing antiphonally a noble hymn. The priests bear aloft the ark. God's throne, the nation's palladium, Solomon's altar, the prayer strikes the highest note ever reached in an address to the Deity. . . . Solomon's fame was spread by his merchants. His caravans awakened curiosity everywhere. His renown was unique in that it was not military or commercial, but chiefly religious. It was associated with the temple and its worship. The queen of Arabia revealed her character in the quest she made to Solomon's court. Her alert mind sought opportunity to quiz the imperial oracle, but her chief motive was religious. Her questions were chiefly concerning the "Lord's name." . . . Solomon built a great empire, but he ended by overthrowing it. He lacked statesmanship or even diplomacy. He made no effort to prevent the tribal cleavage which had already begun in his day. His heir proved a concealed fool, who, in answer to the nation's demand for a constitution, made a foolish answer. Then "Hooray for Absalom!" was sung and the national life parted into two streams, never to be reunited. . . . The genesis of empire is always fascinating. The rise of Israel is especially so. The first king, Jeroboam, proved a brilliant genius, a military architect. To preserve the autonomy of his kingdom he created a new priesthood and dedicated new places of worship situated with geographical convenience and making religious journeys to Jerusalem unnecessary. . . . The first two kings of Judah were in striking contrast to the first king of Israel. They lived in idleness and polygamy. But the third king, Asa, in spite of vicious ancestry and unfavorable environment, proved noble, heroic, pious. He was a veritable cyclone against idolatry. He prepared military defenses for his country and, when invaded by a great world-power, achieved such a victory as to give his country a truce from invasion for three centuries. The camel of idolatry got his head into the tent of Israel, and in the shortest time possible he was all in, hump, hoof, and tail. The substitution of golden calves was a veritable political disaster. It was an effort to keep the first commandment by breaking the second. Elijah was the nation's physician. He diagnosed the disease and applied the heroic medicine which the case required. . . . A moral approach in this instance could only be made through the physical nature. All other approaches failed. God's people were on too low a level to discern ethical or spiritual distinctions. They were too sudden in sin to feel compunction of conscience. They had to be stricken at the point where feeling remained. Hence the drought, universal and protracted, and the attendant famine. At length a competitive test was proposed, in which the pagans failed and Elijah succeeded. The national religion was restored. . . . The prophet, triumphant in the great ordeal on the crest of Carmel, took upon himself the lowly task of running before the king's chariot. By that act he threw the whole weight of his influence, personal and official, on the side of the repentant king. But even that did not appease the fury of the jealous and wicked queen. Exile or death was the ultimatum to the prophet. Flight was braver than dying. Elijah's consequent reaction was very human. He regained his equilibrium a little. The phenomena he witnessed there were both sedative and allegorical. It was proven to him that wind, earthquake, fire were not the best symbols of God, but rather the voice of man. In ancient times fighting was as much of an industry as farming. So Benhadad looked upon Samaria as a field to be harvested and led his army to get the crop. The despotic spirit of militarism has illustration in the Syrian's boast. But just then another element entered into the equation, ancient and potent as was itself, making like havoc of the savings of generations, rendering right use, as well as additions to such savings impossible, enailing incredible physical and moral sufferings among individuals, retarding immeasurably the progress of civilization and causing great catastrophes in state. That element was drunkenness! Benhadad and all the commanders got drunk! On the dark background of drunkenness the vain and attraction of sobriety stands in clear-cut outline. The abstemious young men of Samaria saved the day and the nation.

Shields Against Temptation.

There is always a temptable element in human nature, a traitor ready to admit the foe. The environment demands perpetual alertness and vigorous resistance. It is by this very means that ideal character is developed. When the shell of the oyster is perforated by the parasite it is said that a pearl fills the orifice. Beecher said: "There is nothing for the plant to do but to outgrow the parasite." It was his clear vision of the uses of temptation that led Luther to cry: "One tempted Christian is worth a thousand untempted Christians." Instead of complaining, we should count it all joy when we fall into divers temptations. The crying of faith is an infinitely more important process than the refining of silver.

SETS YOUNGSTERS RIGHT ABOUT SOUTH AMERICA

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

St. Louis, Sept. 17.—Youth of St. Louis, razing with eyes of romance and yearning in the direction of South America, has received warning from E. G. Barriett of Callao, Peru, a business man that your typical South American seldom throws away real money and does not gravel his garden walk with butter-colored nuggets. The locale of the tale of King Midas may have been South America, but Barriett reminds the neighborhood down there is rather large and the exact scene of the old king's gold-touching had not yet been found.

Barriett's information, received in correspondence here, was timely, for St. Louis being in touch with South America by way of the Mississippi river, romantic stories of fabulous wealth to be acquired by youths of snap and fire had begun to cause vacant chairs at some of this city's family tables. Young men have been said to believe that the approved way of becoming rich in South America was the poker-dice-and-gin-rummy-on-the-veranda method, with natives doing the work in the broiling sun. Of course all Americans down there wore pith helmets and duck suits and had whole companies of native dancers and banjo plunkers working continuously for their entertainment. "In fact the life of the young men down there was very soft."

Barriett has kicked the props from beneath many an air castle. White men have to work in South America according to his statements, and salaries for clerks are not as high as a rule as those prevailing in American cities.

Young fellows who cannot speak Spanish have scarcely any chance," he said, "and scores of young men are 'down and out,' depending on the charity of their countrymen. The only way to be sure of a good salary and position is to go to South America under contract to some good American firm."

He added that work and perseverance are just as important as they are in the United States.
